Weapons training readsies officers for real life scenarios

Weapons training readies officers for real life scenarios

The scenarios included all types from a suspect wielding a gun or knife to an incident where a Taser could be used to subdue an aggressive subject.

There’s not much time to react. A dangerous person wielding a lethal 30-foot weapon can cover the seemingly adequate distance in only three seconds, leaving the officer, or in this case the officer’s partner, little time to draw, aim and fire (missing the target), said Bailey.

The training system is a virtual shoot-don’t-shoot decision making exercise. “Even the most seasoned officers have difficulty” in the training exercises, he said.

Tasers are used for less lethal situations where lethal force isn’t needed for the case of a disturbed individual, to respond and communicate with an officer and be restrained safely. If a suspect complies, or a weapon is observed, the situation escalates and force has to be used for the officer’s safety, other people’s safety.

In praise of mothers

I grew up in a household where a glass and ollor were taboo words in our home. I think of those times. I know we need rescue ourselves more than those individuals who shaped our formative years. We all need our mothers enough, our mothers need us enough. Our mothers could, while growing up, often wish they were equal to their mother’s role. She taught us how to be a hard worker. And a hard day’s work was essential for our future. When I was 16 or 18 years old, I was forced to put her in a rundown store in Clare. I was on the house, do the laundry, and watch our town flourish. I believed in you – no matter what they told me. I will never forgive myself for what I have done. I will never forgive myself for what I have done. I will never forgive myself for what I have done.

Our family just moved to Clare and we are thrilled to have a new History here from when I was a small child to Grandpa. Terry Slaggert

By Gene Bodnar

After trying several times to contact Terry Slaggert on Facebook, my patience paid off and finally I reached him. He was not aware until 2 days after that he had a son. This was 1981. He was brought up primarily during the middle of Fair and Exposition season because his father was the General Manager for the Mid States Exposition (MAFE) Association of Fairs & Exhibitions Services as a trade show services firm. Terry says that the best skill he brings to his job is his knowledge and his business acumen. He is happy to have this interview, as his father met on his travels about 35 famous individuals. Terry once again joined International Demolition Derby Services, Inc. (Big Top Rental) at the age of 16 in Saginaw in 1961. He says that he owned a very large 14 feet tall tent which contained several circus wagons. The tent is 14 feet tall. It involved a taste of a lion in his first tent. His business began doing business under the name Big Top Rental. Today, he provides equipment and tents to over 20 Fairs in the State of Michigan. He also has several Mid States Exposition Services, Inc. (Big Top Rental) locations in Midland in Clark County, Saginaw in Saginaw, and Farwell, graduating from Clare, and anyone who needs “a hand.”

Terry says that if he would have asked him that question a few years ago, he would have responded that he loved working, but nowadays he loves to have fun. He says that if it was January, he would enjoy just hanging out with friends. In 1992, Mid States Exposition Services, Inc. (Big Top Rental) became incorporated. At this time, Terry purchased his first tent. His business began doing business under the name Big Top Rental. In 2018, Terry was awarded the International Ringling Brothers Circus, which was built by a fellow who lived in Mason. The tent is 14 feet tall. There was no license. Terry always had a tall and contained a suitable model of a lion. The tent contains 32 wagons. When set up in a circus, the entire circus would take up all of the field. Terry says that if he could be anywhere else, but here, right this minute, where would it be. He replied that he would stay right here in Clare. He loves Clare, in the community, and everything about it. He says that the people of Clare are great, and he is ready to “enjoy the moment” and “have fun.”

Terry Slaggert has been involved in the amusement business most of his life. He can provide whatever you may need – for any sort of party, festival, or thing you can devise. If you have a need of such services, call Big Top Rental at (989) 386-3134. Check our Terry Slaggert’s Facebook page, too.

He says that he owned a very large 14 feet tall tent which contained several circus wagons. The tent is 14 feet tall. It involved a taste of a lion in his first tent. His business began doing business under the name Big Top Rental. Today, he provides equipment and tents to over 20 Fairs in the State of Michigan. He also has several Mid States Exposition Services, Inc. (Big Top Rental) locations in Midland in Clark County, Saginaw in Saginaw, and Farwell, graduating from Clare, and anyone who needs “a hand.”

Terry says that if he would have asked him that question a few years ago, he would have responded that he loved working, but nowadays he loves to have fun. He says that if it was January, he would enjoy just hanging out with friends. In 1992, Mid States Exposition Services, Inc. (Big Top Rental) became incorporated. At this time, Terry purchased his first tent. His business began doing business under the name Big Top Rental. In 2018, Terry was awarded the International Ringling Brothers Circus, which was built by a fellow who lived in Mason. The tent is 14 feet tall. There was no license. Terry always had a tall and contained a suitable model of a lion. The tent contains 32 wagons. When set up in a circus, the entire circus would take up all of the field. Terry says that if he could be anywhere else, but here, right this minute, where would it be. He replied that he would stay right here in Clare. He loves Clare, in the community, and everything about it. He says that the people of Clare are great, and he is ready to “enjoy the moment” and “have fun.”

Terry Slaggert has been involved in the amusement business most of his life. He can provide whatever you may need – for any sort of party, festival, or thing you can devise. If you have a need of such services, call Big Top Rental at (989) 386-3134. Check our Terry Slaggert’s Facebook page, too.
Backpack program provides weekend meals to hungry kids

By Pat Maurer Correspondent

Sara Lewis and Alicyn Johnson, school volunteers, have been working on a program to provide meals to families in need of food assistance. The program, called the Clare Backpack Program, started in 2016 and has since expanded to serve more families each year. The program provides backpacks filled with food and snacks for children to take home on weekends. So far, over 1,000 backpacks have been distributed to students who need them.

Each backpack contains a variety of food items such as shelf-stable milk, cereal, fruit snacks, crackers, and cookies. The backpacks are designed to provide enough food for two meals per day, ensuring that children do not go hungry over the weekend. The backpacks are filled with food items that are shelf-stable and can be stored for extended periods.

The backpacks are distributed to students whose families identify them as in need of food assistance. Teachers and school counselors work closely with families to identify students who may be struggling with hunger. Students can choose to participate in the program, and they receive a backpack filled with food items each week.

The program has received support from local businesses, community members, and organizations. Donations of food, funds, and volunteer time have been instrumental in making the program possible. The Clare Backpack Program is a testament to the power of community collaboration and the importance of addressing food insecurity in our society.

Lady Pioneers win two, lose two

The Clare softball team didn’t have much of a problem winning both contests Tuesday night. The Lady Pioneers won both games, 15-0 and 10-0.

“We just did what we were supposed to do,” head coach Jeff Albert said. “We were pretty good. Everyone played well. Everyone down the line had quality at bats and when we got on base we were aggressive.”

Abby McIlvish was the starting pitcher in game one and helped her own cause at the plate. McIlvish had two singles and courtesy runner Taylor Robinson got the win.

Clare's Dave Coker rides for cancer

By Pat Marler

Suttons Bay

Correspondent

Dave Coker, 42, of Suttons Bay, has signed up for the 2019 Great Cycle Challenge. It is an annual event to raise money for cancer research, including the Children's Cancer Research Fund.

Coker is a cancer survivor who has been actively involved in cancer research and awareness efforts. He was diagnosed with leukemia when he was 12 years old and has been cancer-free for over 30 years.

“Riding for cancer research is a way for me to give back and show support for those who are currently fighting this battle,” Coker said. “I’m excited to be a part of this incredible event and make a difference in the fight against cancer.”

The Great Cycle Challenge is a 24-hour cycling event that takes place at various locations across the United States and Europe. Participants ride stationary bikes, and the amount they raise is based on the number of miles they complete.

Coker plans to ride 58 miles throughout the event. He is doing this for the second year because he feels it’s a great way to give back to the community and support the fight against cancer.

“I’m proud of our fundraising efforts, and I’m confident that we will continue to exceed our goal. The support from the cycling community has been tremendous,” said Coker.

The event is an opportunity for riders to come together and raise money for important causes. The Children’s Cancer Research Fund is one of the beneficiaries, and it supports research and treatment for pediatric cancer patients.

Coker is looking forward to the challenge and the opportunity to make a positive impact on the lives of those affected by cancer. He encourages others to join him in the fight against cancer by participating in the Great Cycle Challenge.

Historical Society to hold MMCC pics through renovation

Mid Michigan College has long displayed historical photos on the Harrison Campus that were part of a target collection of personal memorabilia for Forrest Meek, a local historian, who started Mid Michigan College’s collection to Mid and many other organizations throughout the mid-Michigan region in the 1970s. In 2017, Matt Coby, Service manager from the Clare County Historical Society that was donated to the Mid Michigan College Historical Society (CHHS) ran partnered with Mid to build, hold on, load, the photo collection which consists of hundreds of photos, historical information, and special occasions of those years. Matt’s goal is to share the images, especially with current and common organizations of those years. Matt’s hope is to share photos, which reminisce the removal of the historical photos so they wouldn't be lost over the years.

The $12 million Harrison Campus renovation project will result in a updated facility, improving campus safety and security. The new campus was designed to address the needs of current and future students. The campus will continue to maintain the student-oriented environment, and the renovation will allow for more flexible classroom and administrative spaces.

The Clare County Historical Society is grateful to the Farwell National Honor Society for their continued support of the Historical Society’s mission to preserve and promote local history. The Society thanks the NHS for their continued support and for their generous donation of over 1,651 boxes of mac and cheese.

Two Clare HS teachers announce retirement

At the end of this school year, two Clare High School teachers will be retiring. At the end of the year, Mrs. Beatty and Ms. Cherricy will be retiring. Mrs. Beatty has been the FHS Drama director for the past 25 years. She has been making sure that the students give it their all while acting on stage and making sure to have fun while doing it. She inspired many students to be the best they can and to consider an acting career. Ms. Cherricy has been one of the computer teachers for 9 years and loves helping kids about the basics of computing as well as operating different programs. She has also opened up the computer lab in the classroom and will be missed. Both deservce a peaceful retirement and will be remembered fondly.

Mrs. Beatty has taught Drama at CHS for 25 years.
