Clare Fly-In doubles in attendance

The sounds of aircraft engines over Clare could be heard bright and early Sunday morning as they made their way to Clare Municipal Airport for the Clare Pilots Association annual Dawn Patrol. Pilots from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana joined over 100 fellow aviators to show their planes, visit with fellow aviation enthusiasts and grab a delicious breakfast. This year aircraft ranged from historic, vintage and hand built kit planes filling the grounds, vintage cars on display. "The fly in was very good this year, we more than doubled last year’s aircraft attendance. We appreciate everyone who came out to support the airport and the plane association. We raised proceeds from the breakfast helps pay the insurance on the courtesy van that is kept at the airport. This van is available to pilots who fly in to Clare, and is owned by the Clare Area Pilots Association. This allows visiting pilots a way into Clare so that they can dine at our local restaurants and shop local businesses. It also creates an additional source of revenue for the airport by allowing us to offer another source of income for the airport infrastructure bringing visitors from all over the country. To get to town we needed the last piece and this is the country van. This year, Patriot Aviation had a booth set up for both perspective pilots and future drone pilots. Learning to fly either a manned aircraft or unmanned craft can now be accomplished at your local airport," said Clare Municipal Airport manager Gary Todd.

The Clare Area Pilots Association and the community have worked hard over the years to make the airport one of the more popular stops for pilots just passing through, on business or those looking to the area for a great vacation. Beyond the annual fly-in the group takes part in the Irish Festival Parade and the Easter Egg drop and family fun day at the airport. Plans are already in the works for the 2020 Fly In.

Music fest and more fills Clare’s Shamrock park

Long locked in the 60’s and 70’s, temperatures finally soared into the 80’s just in time for Thursday’s opening day. Thundery storms that rolled in Friday morning were long gone by afternoon leaving plenty of sunshine. Listening to great music were not the only activities going on during the festival. Much of Clare and the surrounding area became a shopper’s paradise thanks to countless yard and garage sales offering everything from Kayaks to trinkets. Back at Shamrock Park a new outdoor Arts, Crafts and Vendor Fair kept shoppers busy all three days.

Free music on Friday night at Shamrock Park was again the family place to be for the Maury Irwin State Farm Insurance Teddy Bear races. Winner’s were crowned for the Keep Memory Quarters” and “The Gateway Community Band”. The evening concluded with the popular fireworks display.

Saturday concluded the festival in the park with the outdoor Arts, Crafts and Vendor fair and the hugely popular “Battle of the Bands” and the Magic Bus Tour County Wide Pub Crawl. This year’s winners of the “Battle at Shamrock” Battle of the Bands were; 1st Place - Rest for the Wicked, 2nd Place - Lemon Frog and 3rd Place Swine.

Who could resist kissing an all-American leg like this for just a buck?

The adults were listening to the music, a lot of kids and Mariah DeGeer took advantage of the playground.
